Hippy Buys All Champs, Top Hogs Bring $2.70

Samuel W. Hippy, Willow Street meat packer, bought every championship winner in the market hog show at the Lancaster Stockyards Wednesday, paying top price of $2.70 per pound for one pen of ten Hampshires.

Hippy bid in both the champion and reserve champion single barrow, the champion and reserve champion trio, and the champion pen of ten in addition to the reserve champion pen of ten that brought top price. In every case, the reserve champion entry brought a higher price than the top exhibits.

Grand champion barrow of the show was exhibited by Norman Kolb, 355 Pitney Road, and purchased by Hippy at $1.05 per pound. The 225 pound crossbred Yorkshire barrow was purchased by Kolb as a shoat and fed out with his litter mates. Kolb, who feeds out from 400 to 500 head of hogs per year, entered the barrow in the Yorkshire class because of the breeding of the sire, and because of the breed characteristics of the barrow.

Millarden Farms exhibited the Reserve champion barrow, a 195 pound Hampshire, and took away $1.90 per pound for their entry.

Masonic Home Farms, of Elizabethtown, took grand champion honors in the trio class with a pen of three Duroc-Jersey barrows averaging 190 pounds per head. Selling price was $1.00 per pound.

Second highest price in the sale, $2.00 per pound, went to George Cogley, of Ronks R1, for the reserve champion trio. His three Yorkshires weighed 650 lbs.

John J. Hess, Intercourse, carried away the grand championship and $1.70 per pound for his pen of 10 Yorkshires. The hogs weighed 1,795 pounds and went to Mr. Hippy for a total of $3,051.50.

Hippy, buying 18 head in three other lots, took a total of 46 of the 199 hogs sold at the sale and paid $12,522.70 of the $20,541.35 sale total.

Average price at the sale sponsored by the Lancaster County Swine Producers Association, was $44.66 per

Topdress Wheat With Nitrogen In March To Increase Yield

By: M. M. Smith, County Agent

The practice of applying 30 to 40 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre on winter wheat during the middle of March will usually give a 10 to 25 per cent increase in yields.

This practice is especially recommended on sandy, gravel or shale type soils where nitrogen leaches out more readily during the winter.

The common method of application is to use a cyclone type seeder because of the small amount needed per acre.

One word of caution: On heavy, fertile soils where lodging is a common problem, we would discourage the use of extra nitrogen because it will only make the problem worse.

Also where a new stand of clover or alfalfa seeding is to be made in the wheat, we would limit the nitrogen to not more than 30 pounds per acre. The reason being that excess nitrogen causes a heavier growth of wheat and makes more competition for the new legume seedlings.

Proper Marking Ups Value Of Farm Timber

The services of a trained forester can help a farmer realize up to twice the price of his farm woodlot. Soil Conservation District Directors were told at their regular meeting Monday night.

In making his report to the district, service forester, John Kitch cited the example (Turn to page 10)

The Fragile Wall Of Respectability

He thought about it afterwards. How had he been reduced, from respected citizen to common beggar, in just a few hours? How had it all started?

It was only a tiny spot of printer's ink on the cuff of his trousers, but the chain of events which followed produced a comedy of errors without much humor. Being reduced to begging is very seldom, if ever, funny.

He had worked late that day on a report promised before midnight. As was his habit when quitting-time found him still in the office, he phoned his wife to tell her he would be late.

"Why don't you bring the report with you and finish it at home?" she asked. She said dinner was almost ready—would be ready by the time he could drive home—and the children liked to eat at least one meal per day with their father. He could take the report to his man after dinner.

He knew he was nearly out of gasoline and had planned to stop on the way home to fill up, but dinner was waiting and he hurried on thinking he would stop at the service station when he went out later in the evening.

With dinner over and the report finished, he sat down for a few minutes before delivering the material.

Then he thought about it. That spot of ink on his cuff would dry and be hard to remove. It was a good thing he wore wash-and-wear pants, he thought.

Into the laundry with his old painting dungarees he went. Onto the convenient shelf went keys, wallet, jack knife and other assorted pocket paraphernalia. Into the washer went the soiled trousers and into the disreputable old painting clothes went he.

He really needed a shave. It had been a long day. But he would just drop the report in the letter slot and no one would see him. The hint of snow in the air made his think of his warmest clothes, so he reached for his old sheepskin coat with the fur collar and his old stocking cap. They didn't look so good, but he wasn't planning to be out in society. He pulled on his boots against the cold around his ankles, and he was on his way.

Pocket the report, he thought, then stop and get gasoline at Paul's where he had a charge account. But the hour was later than he realized, and the station was closed.

"Oh well," he said, "There are other stations open along the road."

When he had gone quite a distance from home he pulled in beside the pumps of a strange gasoline station and reached for his wallet.

Truth came to him like a pricked balloon in the pit of his stomach. He saw in his mind's eye the convenient shelf in the laundry with the wallet on it.

Well, only one thing to do. Deliver the report and hope there was enough juice in the tank to let him reach home.

With the report delivered and the nose of his car pointed toward home he had begun to hope for the best when the engine sputtered and died.

The lights of an all-night service station winked "GAS" invitingly in the distance. He turned up the collar of his old sheepskin coat against the snow and headed toward the lights.

He didn't wonder at the startled look on the face of the service station pumps and tried to explain his situation.

It wasn't lack of money that bothered him. Many times before he had been away from home with no money in his pocket, but now he had been robbed of his identity. He couldn't even prove the car he told the attendant about was his, and he certainly didn't look like he could afford a car of any kind.

His pleas, his improbable story, and the offer to leave his old sheepskin coat and his boots as security finally moved the heart of the attendant, and enough gasoline for the trip home was handed over.

He was thankful the attendant had not demanded the coat and boots as collateral, and as he trudged back toward the helpless car, he mused on the fate which had changed him from respected newspaper editor to common beggar in just a few hours.

"The wall that separates beggars from the likes of such as we is as fragile as a film of mist," he thought.

At least that's how it looks from where we stand.

For His Own

Lesson for March 19, 1961

WHAT ONE of us needs, another does not. In a worship service in the church, the minister cannot offer the same particular prayers which any one person present might rightfully pray; for the circumstances vary from person to person. Nevertheless a minister may offer prayers which every one there may take to heart. So it was with the great prayer of Christ written down in John 17. This was a prayer for all believers, "for his own." Wherever a Christian lives, whatever his needs, these things at least are Christ's will for him. If we want these things too, we may be sure we are desiring the will of God, praying in the name of Christ.

Dr. Foreman

Joy

This prayer is full of requests, yet it is far from a "gimme" prayer. The reader may profitably sit down and think what makes this different from so many of our request-prayers. Meanwhile we can high light for a moment four gifts Jesus asks from his Father for those who have been "given him." One is joy. This is commonplace enough, by the sound of it. Who does wish to be happy, who does not pray for happiness for his friends? Yet this is different from ordinary happiness. "That they may have my joy fulfilled in themselves," Jesus prays. This is not commonplace. The reader is invited to think it out. What is the difference between ordinary happiness and the kind of joy that we can think of as characteristic of Christ?

"Keep Them From The Evil One"

We wish we had the actual words Jesus prayed in; probably Aramaic. The Greek language of the New Testament has no distinguishing between "evil" and "the evil one"—that is, Satan. We have to ask: Did our Lord think that "his own" should be kept from evil or from the evil one? There is not space to give reasons for thinking that Jesus meant the evil one. Certainly we are in contact with evil of kind all the days of our lives in our own hearts if nowhere else.

"That They May All Be One"

It is a shame to argue this great prayer of Christ is a fact that this simple prayer "that they may all be one" had many meanings put on it. At least this can mean is true: (1) that all the members of a Christian congregation should be one in heart; (2) that every individual Christian shall feel in heart, and practice in his Christian brotherliness and unity with all other Christians. Now that is so simple it sounds like a truism, but something so obvious that it might have thought, of it whatever it may sound like, never said anything more. The mere fact that he prayed for this kind shows that cannot be achieved without help. How easy it is to be in harmony with people just like us. How hard it is to feel any unity with people who are different! But that is just what calls for.

"That They May Be With Him"

Evangelists talk of this for Christ. That is the right to start. But times come when we are called on to decide for Christ. The great and most searching question asked of Christians is: "Are you with Christ? He prayed for you? But most students of the Gospels believe Jesus was the also—or perhaps chiefly, he was facing death—of the beyond this life. It is putting emphasis somewhere besides center when we talk of heaven and hell. The question for us goes into the next too. Are we with him? To be with him is to be without him. To be without him is to be with him.

Every morning and every evening, the Christian may ask himself: Is the way I am spending this hour a way that brings me closer to my Father? Is it going to make him closer to me?

Vanishing Americans

Perhaps you wouldn't call them "the vanishing Americans," but that is what the Census Bureau's recently completed 1959 Census Agriculture adds up to.

During the past 30 years the farm population has been decreasing, with but few years excepted, at the rate of almost one million a year. Farm population has been cut in half during a period in which the national population has approximately doubled. The percentage of the total population living on farms declined from one-third in 1925 to one-tenth in 1959.

Along with the number of farmers, the number of farms has declined by almost 50% since the 1920's; from 64 million in 1925 to 3.7 million in 1959, according to the Census Bureau count.

Older Farmers Predominate

How much longer will the farm population decline continue? Sociologists and economists are not agreed on the answer, but they do agree that farmers will continue to be a smaller and smaller percentage of the total population.

The average age of farm operators has increased steadily for many years. The Census Bureau said the average in 1959 was 50 years. Twenty-five years ago the average was 40 years.

While the number of farms and farmers has decreased since 1930 the total acreage in cultivation has dropped only slightly. This is accounted for by the fact that each farmer tills approximately twice as many acres as he did 30 years ago.

Today four of every five farmers own their farms, compared with just over 50 per cent in 1930. The average value of land and building per farm in 1959 was $33,242, an increase of 63% over 1954.

Why The Population Drop?

There are many reasons why, as the World War I song hit went, "you can't keep 'em down on the farm." Mechanization for one thing, has enabled farmers to till and harvest more acres per man.

More and more farm boys and girls are going to colleges, and finding their opportunities for earning and advancement greater in industry and the professions than in farming. Only about 1 in 10 farm youths who graduate from college return to farming.

Now Is The Time . . .

BY MAX SMITH

TO IMPROVE TOBACCO SEEDLING PRACTICES

In the production of tobacco plants the effort should be focused on proper seedling practices in order to keep the plants free from disease and insect. After they go into the field it is very difficult and impractical to control the problems. Therefore, from the time seeds are planted until the plants go into the field special practices should be followed. This starts with soil sterilization, soaking of muslin and boards to control mosaic, soil drench, and a very thorough spray program. Growers are urged to obtain the mimeograph sheet of suggestions at the Extension Office.

TO USE SPRING OATS AS A NURSE CROP—In the effort to get a new stand of alfalfa, clover, or pasture in the spring months it is best to use a bushel of spring oats as a nurse crop; this will protect the young plants from weather and result in a better stand, it is important to limit the oats to only one bushel per acre. The soil should be limed and fertilized according to soil test prior to seeding. The oats should be removed for hay or silage when in the milk stage.

TO CONTINUE CALF VACCINATION—Even though Lancaster County and the state of Pennsylvania is completely signed up on the Bang's Disease Testing Program, it is very important that dairymen continue to vaccinate their calves when four to eight months of age. This will build up resistance in the young herd and give additional protection against a serious outbreak. With the great amount of dairy cow traffic in this area and the large population of dairy cattle, it is more risky to be raising a head of non-vaccinated animals.

TO TOPDRESS WITH NITROGEN—During mid-May when vegetation begins to get green wheat growers may increase their yields of grain by topdressing with 30 to 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre. This is especially true on sandy, gravel, or shale-type soils where nitrogen leaches quickly. On heavy, more fertile soils extra nitrogen is not advisable because of more danger of lodging; also, where a grass seeding is to be made in the wheat this extra nitrogen will be less favorable for the new-seeding.

Many farmers sell their farms for consolidation with an adjoining farm when they retire. Others, unable to make a fair income on a few acres, sell out and seek jobs in small towns and cities. The trend probably will continue as long as income on the farm averages only about half that of non-farm workers.

Miss Milkmaid

Must Be Milkmaid Indeed

It's back to the milking stool for dairy farmer daughters throughout Pennsylvania. The girls will be practicing to take part in the 1961 Miss Milkmaid of Pennsylvania contest now officially open.

The young lady chosen Milkmaid must be able to milk a cow both with modern machines, and the old-fashioned way.

The 1961 Miss Milkmaid will be crowned May 11 at Bedford Springs, Bedford, site of the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Association of Milk Dealers. She will represent dairy farmers and milk dealers who last year added over 700 million dollars worth of goods and services to the state's economy. The dairy farmer's daughter who wins the Milkmaid contest will take part in an affair in which bathing in suits are noticeably absent, and in which knowledge of the dairy industry ranks higher than beauty.

First step for candidates is to enter a semi-final contest held in each of the state's major milk markets. Winners of the 12 local contests will then compete in the state event. All contestants are awarded prizes.

The winner of the final Milkmaid contest will receive prizes that include a $700 wardrobe, a mink stole, hair styling and many other beautiful gifts.

Candidates must be the daughter of a dairy family producing milk commercially in Pennsylvania; live in suits are noticeably absent, Pennsylvania, be at least 17 and in which knowledge of or not reach 23 before June

Feedmen Cautious

Survey Shows Poultry Surplusses

Chicago, Illinois, March 3, 1961—"An overexpansion in all types of poultry production—eggs, turkeys and broilers—and resulting sharp drops in prices and earnings are indicated by developments now underway."

So stated the College Poultry Survey Committee at the conclusion of their two-day meeting in Chicago. The group is comprised of four top college poultry economists and is sponsored by three national poultry and feed associations.

The committee statement continued, "No foreseeable actions which might be used to strengthen demand would be strong enough to completely offset these prices and income results if current production plans are carried out. We urge all segments of the poultry industry to appraise carefully this action in light of the over-all situation."

Highlights of the report are as follows:

30, 1961; be a high school graduate before June 30, 1961; have parent's or guardian's consent, if under 21; be single, appear at local contest and at state finals if selected as area finalist; and represent the state's dairy industry during June Dairy Month, 1961, and at other times until June, 1962, if selected as Miss Milkmaid.

Former local and state winners are not eligible.

"Egg prices, for the laying year beginning October 1, 1961, may be 5 to 7 cents lower compared to the current laying year. This assumes an increase of at least 15 percent in the hatch of egg-type chicks during the first half of 1961, compared to a year earlier, stimulated by current egg prices."

"Turkey farm prices, August through December will average 4 to 5 cents below the 25 to 26 cent national average of the same period in 1960. This is based upon an expected increase of at least 15 per cent in production in 1961, compared to last year."

"U. S. farm broiler prices may average 1 to 1½ cents lower during the months of April through December, '61, as compared to the same period in 1960. Prices during the last three months of '61 may be sharply lower than the 15.9 cent average of the same period last year."

Best Food Buys Produce Quality Improves

A flexible shopping list and careful buying will help keep the food budget balanced this week-end, declares Tom Piper, Penn State Extension Marketing Agent. Weather conditions and changing seasonal production patterns will influence the food values offered in area food markets.

Freezing temperatures in the muckland vegetable growing areas of Florida give promise of higher retail prices for green beans, sweet corn, and tender leafy salad items. Tomato prices are much higher as harvest of the winter crop nears an end. Smaller supplies of broccoli, Brussel sprouts, cucumbers, peppers, and egg plant cause these items to be higher priced with the early shipments of asparagus.

Iceberg lettuce remains an outstanding buy at the produce counter. The heads are firm, green and heavy for size, and quality is generally excellent. Other fair to good buys include celery, yellow onions, cabbage, carrots, green onions, cauliflower & radishes. Potatoes continue plentiful and shoppers may choose from fall-crop potatoes from Pennsylvania or Maine and new potatoes from Florida.

Grapefruit is the leading value at the fruit counter. This popular citrus item is in peak supply and prices are approaching the low point for the season. Fast transportation from growing areas means the consumer can enjoy tree-ripened quality. Orange prices are much higher California Naval oranges and the Pineapple and Temple varieties are almost over for this year. Valencia oranges are coming on the market now but prices promise to remain firm. Strawberries are more plentifully supplied and prices will depend upon the size and quality of the fruit. Stayman, Delicious, Rome & Winesap apples are available at unchanged prices. Bananas and Emperor grapes continue on the list of reasonably priced fruit. Imported melons, peaches, and pineapples are available for those willing to pay the price. Retail egg prices have been easing downward in recent weeks as supplies have been increasing. You will find the large size Grade A eggs the best value now if you make your comparison on a weight basis.

Variety Meats For Variety

By Mrs. Richard C. Spence

Variety meats are not used enough in our meals today for the simple reason that we do not know how to prepare them so that they will be most palatable. If you have bought beef or pork for your freezer and keep pushing these pieces out of the way, you might try some of these recipes. Occasionally these pieces are featured as "specials" at your meat counter.

Take advantage of the savings and put some "variety" in your meals.

BAKED STUFFED HEART

- 1 beef heart or 2 veal hearts
- 2 slices salt pork
- 2 cups bread crumbs
- ½ cup diced onion
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 3 tablespoons shortening
- ½ cup water
- 1 tablespoon Worcester-sauce

Dice salt pork; fry until crisp. Combine with bread crumbs, onion, and 1 teaspoon salt. Trim out white tubes from heart cavity. Season cavity with remaining salt. Fill with bread stuffing; fasten with skewers to hold in stuffing. Dip heart into flour; brown in shortening in a heavy kettle. Add ½ cup water and the Worcestershire sauce. Cover and cook slowly in a moderate oven (350 degrees) or simmer on top of range for two hours, or until heart is tender, 8 to 10 servings.

MOCK CHOP SUEY

- 1 beef heart
- Water
- 1 teaspoon salt

- ¼ cup cooking oil
- Enriched flour
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 2½ cups tomatoes (1 pound 4-oz. can)
- 4 teaspoons soy sauce
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup water
- 8 ounces long spaghetti

Rinse heart with cold water and remove membranes. Cover with water and add 1 teaspoon salt. Bring to boiling, reduce heat and simmer about 2½ hours, or until tender. Remove from water. Cool. Cut into small strips, enough meat for 2 cups. Coat strips with flour. Heat oil in skillet. Add meat & brown well. Add onion, celery, tomatoes, soy sauce, salt and water. Simmer about twenty minutes. To cook spaghetti, add 4 teaspoons salt and spaghetti to 1½ quarts boiling water. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes. Rinse with hot water and drain well. Serve sauce over spaghetti. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

CREAMED SWEETBREADS ON ASPARAGUS
1 pound veal sweetbreads, fresh or frozen, cooked
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt

2 tablespoons flour

Cook in simmering salted water until just tender. Heat oxtails and broth to the boiling point. Mix ¼ cup of flour and ½ cup water and stir into broth. Poultry Assn. Plans Meet

The Lancaster County 4-H poultry club roundup will be held in conjunction with an educational meeting sponsored by the county poultry association next week.

A panel of poultrymen, moderated by Professor Carl Dossin, extension poultry specialist from Pennsylvania State University, will present their views on "Producer vs Processor Grading of Eggs".

Displays by, and awards to, members of the 4-H club will make up the first part of the program, according to Cleve Hastings, chairman of the educational committee.

All county poultrymen and their families are invited to the meeting at the Lancaster County Poultry Center, 340 W. Roseville Road, Tuesday, March 21 at 7:45 p.m.

Marking Timber

ic of Mrs Katherine Schroll near Bainbridge Kitch said, a logger offered to buy the timber on Mrs. Schroll's woodlot for a flat fee of $1,000 and cut it immediately.

Mrs Schroll, he said, being unfamiliar with the value of standing timber, called the state employed forester to measure and mark the trees to be sold.

When the forester measured the woodlot, he estimated nearly $2,000 worth of timber ready for harvest with the immature trees left for further growth.

Kitch said the sawmill operator agreed to take only the marked trees and the selling price was set at $2,625.

A farm area in woodlot can supply a regular income just as any other crop, Kitch said, if old, mature and weeded trees are removed before they prevent the younger trees from growing.

"The forester's program includes all problems of woodlot management starting with planting new plantations through timber stand improvement to the final

Farm Fire Loss $165 Million Last Year

Farm fires caused losses estimated at $165 million during 1960, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today. This is about five percent less than the estimated 1959 loss of $174 million the highest on record.

Economists of USDA's Agricultural Research Service based their 1960 estimate on reports received from 207 farmers' mutual fire insurance companies, selected from 1,625 such firms insuring farm risks.

The loss rate for 1960, including lightning damage not always resulting in fire, averaged 14.2 cents per $100 of insurance in force at the end of the year. This compares with the rate of 14.8 cents for 1959.

Personal property losses were about 35 percent of the total Livestock losses, about 15 percent of all claims paid, accounting for more dollars than any other personal property item. Most livestock claims were due to lightning.

stage of harvesting and marketing.

In Lancaster County there are approximately 82,483 acres in woodland, according to a recent survey of soil and water conservation needs. At the present time, more land is being planted to forest trees and managed as a cash crop on more productive land.

In other business, directors approved seven new co-operators asking for free conservation plans. They are:

Gunter P. Kaiser, New Holland, 10 acres; Rufus Miller, Bainbridge R1, 14 acres; A. Franklin Myer, of Lancaster R6, 145 acres; George Weaver, Quarryville R1, 328 acres; Mathan Martin, East Earl Star Route, 96 acres; Clair Bomberger, of Peach Bottom R1, 167 acres; and Malcomb D. Mertz, of Peach Bottom R1, 175 acres.

pound, a record for U. S. hog sales in 1961. The average was more than double the best market price of hogs on the stockyards Monday, when the retail price was $21.50. Total weight of the 199 hogs was 42,215 pounds for a 212 pound average.

Auctioneer Abe Diffenbach said, "I think this is close to an all-time record price for a pen of ten hogs I don't ever recall of hearing of a higher price."

Other buyers and their purchases were Arbogast and Bastin, Allentown, 71 hogs at $3,816.37; Fisher Bros., Bridgeton, N.J., nine hogs at $420.00; Kunzler and Co., Inc., Lancaster, 55 hogs at $3,012.50; Spungin Abattoir, Harrisburg, five hogs, $204.75, and Weiland Packing Co. of Phoenixville, three hogs, $167.70.

Judging the show at 9:00 a.m. were J. Carl Dalton, Kunzler and Co., Inc., and William Crow, Weiland Packing Co. They were assisted by James O'Hara, in charge of the USDA Market News Bureau at the stock yards.

Show committee for the swine association included Earl Fisher, Stauffer Homestead Farms, East Earl R1, chairman; H. B. Endslow of Marietta R1, and Arlie Anderson, Masonic Home Farms, Elizabethtown.

Prices Down From Last Month Higher Than February 1960

Harrisburg—Prices received by Pennsylvania farmers in mid-February for their agricultural products averaged nearly 1 per cent below a month earlier, but were 5 per cent greater than in February 1960.

The Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service, a federal-state cooperative agency in the State Department of Agriculture, said that seasonally lower prices for milk and a drop in the prices of eggs, steers and heifers, sheep and tobacco slightly more than offset higher prices for nearly all crops, hogs, cows and chickens.

The index of prices received, the barometer of farm income, was 237 per cent of the 1910-14 base of 100. This compares with 239 a month ago and 225 the same month last year.

During last November and December Pennsylvania farmers enjoyed a better position in the cost of living and production vs. prices received than farmers in the rest of the United States. However, during January this relationship changed and in mid-February Keystone State farmers were 3 points under the U.S. average in this cost-price relationship.

600 pounds of PIONEER "DRY AND FRESHENING" yields an EXTRA TON of milk!

BEFORE CALVING
This cow was fitted on Pioneer program for 60 days before calving. Note the excellent "dry cow" body condition.

AFTER COMPLETING RECORD
The same cow after having produced 23,044 lbs. of milk and 941 lbs. of fat as a 4 year old. Note the extreme dairyness and exceptional body condition shown after this cow produced 11½ tons of milk.

60 DAYS ON PIONEER DRY AND FRESHENING WILL IMPROVE PROFITABILITY OF YOUR HERD

PIONEER DRY AND FRESHENING DELIVERS

- Up to 25% more milk
- Higher breeding efficiency
- Strong, vigorous calves
- Ease in calving
- Quick elimination of placenta
- Less udder congestion
- Better herd health

Calving stimulates a cow to produce fat beyond her ability to convert feed into milk. So, during the first months of her lactation, she "steals" milk-making nutrients from her body.

It requires only 600 pounds of Pioneer Dry and Freshening feed to repair the body tissue used during the previous lactation... to build a reserve of body condition for the next lactation... and to produce a vigorous calf.

Pioneer Dry and Fresh, fed during the dry period, is a sound investment in herd health, sustained high production, and longevity for your producing herd.

LEOLA - QUARRYVILLE

A registered Guernsey cow, P Polly, owned by Kitty, a six year old registered Rohrer Witmer, Willowed Ayrshire cow owned by street, has completed an official DHIR production record for 12,100 pounds of milk and 560 pounds of fat 13,349 pounds of milk and a seven year-old on 2x 542 pounds of butterfat in 305 days.

WASHER BUYING GUIDE

Look for a washer that lets you regulate water temperature and extraction if you plan to use an automatic washer for easy-care garments, suggests Helen Bell, Penn State extension home management specialist. If you use a fabric softener, a water conditioner, and a bleach, a wise choice may be a washer that dispenses them automatically.

ANY DAIRY FARMER

GIVE CHICKS LOTS OF WATER

Water is mighty important to the growing chick, says Carl Dossin, extension poultry specialist at Penn State. He suggests using a one-gallon water fountain for each 100 new chicks Provide more if possible. In switching from hand-filled fountains to automatics, do it gradually by providing both types of fountains for a time.

FABRIC FINISHES

Rainwear fabrics may be labeled "shower-resistant," "rain-resistant," or "heavy rain-resistant." Thelma Bailer, Penn State extension clothing specialist, says that water-repellent finishes offer a lesser degree of rain protection than waterproof garments which keep you dry in a heavy downpour. But waterproof finishes coat the fabric with a substance, such as rubber resin, which completely seals out both water and air. This makes the garment somewhat uncomfortable in warm weather.

Tobacco Seed Treatment 'Aid' In Wildfire Control

Treatment of tobacco seed with a solution of Silver Nitrate will control wildfire carried on the seed, but will not prevent wildfire from coming in from other sources. Farmers were told this week.

Dr. Carlton Taylor, Extension Plant Pathologist from the Pennsylvania State University, speaking at a tobacco seed cleaning and treating demonstration in the Witmer fire hall Tuesday, said, Treatment of the seed is designed to control wildfire organisms carried on the seed itself. "If wildfire develops in the seedbed, be prepared to spray silver nitrate solution," he told farmers.

Seedbed sterilization will also help control some diseases as well as weeds, he said. Dr. Taylor reminded tobacco growers there are several chemicals which can be used for sterilization of tobacco beds, but in most cases chemical treatment is suited only to fall applications. Steam sterilization is about the only recourse that farmers have in the spring.

Like steam sterilization, Dr. Taylor pointed out, the chemicals kill damping-off fungi as well as nematodes and weed seed, but any of the more common chemicals must be applied when the soil temperature is higher than 50 degrees F.

Dr. Taylor and personnel from the county extension service treated in excess of 500 ounces of tobacco seed at three locations during the day.

County agent M. M. Smith said, tobacco growers, "who did not have an opportunity to bring seed to the demonstrations but would like to treat the seed, can purchase silver nitrate solution at drug stores. The druggist will mix the solution in the one to 1,000 proportions recommended. Directions for treating seed are available from the county agent's office in the Post Office building in Lancaster.

Earlymead Dunloggin Posch owned by H. E. & Maybelle Kettering, Lititz, produced 16,603 lbs. milk and 736 lbs. butterfat in 324 days on twice daily milking as a 4-year-old.
